What Astral is missing, in priority order

Every SP Dataserve feature, read against the Astral prototype and re-scored after the MeterPower walk-through with Jack and Lorraine. Astral must match MeterPower on day one, so customers lose nothing. Value and effort set the order of work.

Value is reach + frequency + severity, each 1 to 3. Reach is how many of the four user groups it affects. Severity is how badly its absence blocks the task. Effort 1 is a column or copy, 2 a new view or report, 3 a new data model or back-office process.

Admin items take the value of the customer gaps they unblock, and go first. Confidence is high when Jack and Lorraine described real use, and medium when they or a walk named it. The data source must deliver channel-level data before launch. Full analysis is in the Work Desk.
